Introduction

Making of a fine scent is like making of a fine precious stone gem. A sharp gem specialist will have an eye for the ideal precious stone. In any case, in the event that the precious stone has imperfections, regardless of how appealing the bundling is the jewel at that point stops to entice. This is also the case with scents.

Z'Cret perfumes makes fine scents with indistinguishable aroma. We begin from aromas made by Nature and afterward carefully make them into flawlessness. The scents are created with science and high technology.

Our aromas are then displayed in delightful glass jugs and embellishments. When you purchase fine aromas, you expect a satisfying smell which should keep going for quite a while. This is what we do with our manifestations. It might astound you that we dedicate at least a half year to build up our aromas.

Packaging and the presentation of the product

The bottles are made of clear glass and adapt all kinds of luxury surface finishing to make our perfume products deluxe and eye catching.

We used rigid cardboard to build the perfume box structure with foam on the inside. The foam is carved out so the perfume bottle can fit precisely.

Perfume and fragrance are not only for the perfume flavors but also for the packaging itself.

Identify the promotional strategies to be used which include the methods of promotion

The promotional strategies that I will use for my business are:

- Advertising
- Personal selling
- Sales promotion
- Publicity
- Direct marketing
- Billboards

State how the product will be distributed
The distribution chain that I would use is:

The producer in this case is a perfumer. The perfumer is the marketing agent for fragrance and perfume product manufacturers.

The wholesaler purchases the perfume from the perfumer in bulk quantity and re-sells it to retailers in small quantity.

The retailer purchases the perfume from the wholesaler and sells the products to the customer in small quantities
